WINDWARD COMMUNITY COLLEGE MISSION STATEMENT

Windward Community College offers innovative programs in the arts and sciences and opportunities to gain knowledge and understanding of Hawai‘i and its unique heritage. With a special commitment to support the access and educational needs of Native Hawaiians, we provide O‘ahu’s Ko‘olau region and beyond with liberal arts, career and lifelong learning in a supportive and challenging environment — inspiring students to excellence.

CATALOG DESCRIPTION

An introductory course in reporting and writing news stories for delivery to different media, including print, online media and video. Prerequisite: C or better in ENG 100.

The course may require individual conferences with the instructor outside of our regularly scheduled class time. There may also be optional field trips scheduled outside of the class.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completion of the course, the student will be able to:

1. Analyze the quality of coverage in stories produced by the mass media and other students to become a more informed consumer of news.

2. Identify basic journalistic concepts and principles, including news values, news and feature story structures and issues relating to communication law and ethics.

3. Apply basic journalistic concepts and principles to produce a range of articles (press release, short news, profile, timed deadline pieces, news story and in-depth news or feature) that meet standards for readability, accuracy, news style and mechanics.

4. Conduct background research and interviews to gather information accurately and comprehensively.

5. Edit and proofread their own and others' stories for readability, clarity, accuracy, news value, conciseness and mechanics.

COURSE CONTENT

This course will be taught in a variety of methods, including considerable practical experience.
in writing, small group sessions and conferences for discussion and feedback on assignments, guest speakers from the press and field trips.

Students will have story assignments that will involve fact-gathering and interviewing on campus or in the community. The emphasis will be on learning by doing. Individual conferences will be required on all major written assignments.

Concepts or Topics
- Becoming a more informed consumer of news
- Sharpening communication skills to write effective news articles, including listening, observing, questioning, writing and editing

Percentages and Letter Grades:
Note: These are whole grades. +/- (such as A-, B+) will not be given.

- 90 – 100 points = A
- 80 – 89 points = B
- 70 – 79 points = C
- 60 – 69 points = D
- Below 60 points = F

Attendance and deadlines: You are expected to attend all classes. This is crucial to understanding the work we do both inside and outside the classroom. Even more important is meeting deadlines. The journalism world is built on meeting them. If you miss project deadlines, there will be consequences that will affect your grade.

Absences and difficulties: Excused absences (for illness, jury duty, military duty, bereavement, etc.) must be cleared with me via email prior to or within 24 hours of your absence. You must provide documentation (doctor’s note, jury summons, etc.). I will make the final determination of whether the absence is excused. Each student is allowed four excused absences during the semester. Additional excused absences and unexcused absences will count against your final grade. Being tardy more than 20 minutes of class counts as an unexcused absence.

If you do miss class, it is your responsibility to obtain any missed material. If difficulties arise during the course, please see me before the problem affects your performance in the course. Waiting until the end of the semester does not work. We can work together to troubleshoot, but not if you allow the problems to linger and overwhelm you at the end of the semester.

Learning environment: You are expected to maintain a supportive learning environment with appropriate behavior in class demonstrated by showing consideration for others, paying attention and focusing on specific tasks. Personal entertainment/communication devices must be turned off during class. Listening to music, web browsing, using your phone, text messaging, tweeting, social networking and email activities are prohibited, unless authorized under special circumstances. Violations will affect your participation grade.

Assignment specifics: All written assignments must be typed on a computer, using a standard 12-point font, double-spaced and with 1-inch margins on each side. Assignments turned in electronically must be done in Microsoft Word (.doc) or as a .pdf. With the student’s consent, stories of high quality may be published in WCC’s student newspaper Ka ‘Ohana.

Academic honesty: Windward Community College follows the University of Hawai‘i Code of Student Conduct which defines expected conduct for students and specifies those acts subject to University sanctions, such as cheating and plagiarism. Plagiarism includes but is not limited to submitting any document to satisfy an academic requirement that has been copied in whole or part from another individual’s work without identifying that individual; neglecting to identify as a quotation a documented idea that has not been assimilated into the student’s language and style, or paraphrasing a passage so closely that the reader is misled as to the source; submitting the same written or oral material in more than one course without obtaining authorization from the instructors involved; or drylabbing, which includes (a) obtaining and using experimental data from other students without the express consent of the instructor, (b) utilizing experimental data and laboratory write-ups from other sections of the course or from previous terms during which the course was conducted, and (c) fabricating data to fit the expected results.

To avoid plagiarism, you must give the original author credit whenever you use another person’s ideas, opinions, drawings, or theories as well as any facts or any other pieces of information that are not common knowledge. Additionally, quotations of another person’s actual spoken or written words; or a close paraphrasing of another person’s spoken or written words must also be referenced. Accurately citing all sources and putting direct quotations – of even a few key words – in quotation marks are required. Note that all information on the Web is copyrighted just as it is in print. Do not use any online information without attribution or permission.

A failing grade will be given on any assignment that has been plagiarized, and you will be reported to the Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs. The assignment must also be redone in order to pass the course.

LEARNING RESOURCES

Required text:
Inside Reporting: A Practical Guide to the Craft of Journalism (3rd edition) by Tim Harrower

Recommended text:
The Associated Press Stylebook
Both textbooks are available at the WCC bookstore. We will use a variety of class handouts, hands-on training and tutorials. Students will also be expected to keep up with the day’s news, online or in print.

Writing Intensive (WI) Courses are part of a University of Hawai‘i system-wide movement to incorporate more writing in courses from all disciplines. A WI course is a discipline-specific course in which writing plays a major integrated role. Students in course sections designated as a “WI” (preceding the course title in the Schedule of Classes) learn to understand course content through writing and to write in ways appropriate to that discipline.

English 100 is a prerequisite before students take the two required WI courses for the Associate in Arts degree. Students transferring to some bachelor’s degree campuses in the UH system may bring two or three WI courses with them to count for the bachelor’s degree. The hallmarks of a writing intensive course are:

- Writing promotes learning of course content.
- Writing is considered to be a process in which multiple drafts are encouraged.
- Writing contributes significantly to each student’s course grade.
- Students do a substantial amount of writing, a minimum of 4,000 words. Depending on the types of writing appropriate to the discipline, students may write critical essays or reviews, journal entries, lab reports, research reports or reaction papers.
- To allow for meaningful teacher-student interaction on each student’s writing, the class is restricted to 20 students.
- Individual conferences on writing assignments are required in WI courses at Windward Community College.
