Taurie’s Incredibly Draconian and Downright Cruel Attendance/Punctuality Policy:

There is only one way you can do badly in this class – fail to show up. If you don’t come to class you aren’t just letting yourself down you are letting your classmates down too.

You will be allowed ONE “free” absence if you are sick or overwhelmed by the tide of life. No additional absences will be excused for ANY REASON! Every further absence after your ONE “free” absence will deduct 10 points from your final grade (effectively dropping you an entire letter grade from A to B, or from B to C). SO DON’T WASTE YOUR ONE FREE ABSENCE – YOU MIGHT NEED IT. If you do miss a class it is your responsibility to find out what was covered on the day you missed.
You get one free tardy as long as you arrive in the first ten minutes of class — if you are later than 10 minutes you are officially absent, though the instructor may allow you to take part in class if they life (up to the instructor — they may ask you to leave). The next time you are late (even if it is just 1 minute late) you will be marked absent.

The Show Must Go On — PERFORMANCE DISCIPLINE:

In the professional theatre world there is only one excuse for missing a performance — death, and even then you must give two weeks notice. IF YOU MISS AN ASSIGNMENT DAY YOU WILL NOT BE GIVEN AN OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE IT UP. Learning to show up for things in life is one of the most important life skills you shall acquire at college.

Participation is crucial:

If you miss a class, there is no textbook to make up the information. This is why attendance is so important. (A grade basically says, “you’ve learned this much ___.” If you are not here to do the learning, the grade needs to reflect this.)

Since almost half of your grade is based on “participation”, being physically present in class is not enough. You need to participate!

Participation means following the instructions, working on the exercise or activity, being courteous of other classmates.

Of course, everyone has “off” days. If you need a couple passes (because you feel ill, or for whatever reason), quietly and politely let me know, and you can sit in the back and watch (about two classes at the most.)

Allowing a pass is completely up to me. (Obviously, if someone is rude, or just stops participating without politely explaining why, or demands a pass, I will ask you to leave the classroom and you will be marked absent. Remember 2 absences = B, 3 absences = C and so forth.) Make every possible effort to speak to me before class starts or during warm-ups. Otherwise, you may lose participation points. (I cannot help if I do not know what’s happening!)

Non-Censorship Warning

Life is not all happiness, sunshine and rainbows. Theatre reflects life. Therefore, sometimes in this class, we will discuss or explore R-rated topics (such as Shakespeare!) Since this is college, and not high school, this is normal: education often involves learning about unfamiliar concepts or ideas you are personally opposed to. If anything comes up that you personally dislike, look at it as an opportunity to practice putting aside your own emotions and work on objective critical thinking — another crucial life skill = theatre skill!

Actors must seek to understand the character they are playing without judging the character. Historically, censorship is fundamental to oppression. Censorship inhibits education, and destroys tolerance and democracy because it stops people from speaking freely. Our country protects freedom of speech and artists for very good reasons. If you cannot handle R-rated subjects (war, crime, adult language and situations), then this is not the class for you. (These subjects are typical for college…)

Studio Etiquette:

Our studio space is sacred. We will create and bring about wonders here. To that end, you must leave your other worries and life preoccupations at the door. Do not bring them in this place of play, freedom and creation. Smartphones and the constant invasion of the virtual world upon all aspects of our life are my nemesis and most hated foe.

- Our class will be a cellphone-free zone – you will turn off your cellphones and put them with your belongings and take them only when class is concluded. Fear not. I promise your texts and facebook notifications will be waiting for you one hour and fifteen minutes later.
- No food can be consumed in the studio (without prior consent.)
- Respect one another at all times. Any disrespect of your classmates will not be tolerated and will result in your ejection from class for the day (which will then count as an absence, effecting your grade). The work we do is collaborative; if any of us feel uncomfortable, none of us can achieve excellence.
- Wear whatever is comfortable clothing for you (allowing you to run, jump and lie down without restricting or embarrassing yourself.)
- Please use the restroom before or after class starts! (Taking a bathroom break every single class adds up to a lot of missed class time. If you need to occasionally, it’s no problem—just ask first and keep it to a minimum! Your class partners will appreciate it!)
- Be aware of your body’s limitations. Sometimes I will ask you to do strenuous physical activity, if you suffer from palpitations, consumption, or tennis elbow, I need to know.
- Great Actors are always, 100% of the time, Great Audience members. This is because great actors must focus and concentrate entirely on what they are doing, listen to the people onstage with them in scenes and react, and be emotionally available. Great audience members also listen and concentrate, and react freely and emotionally to what they are experiencing. When any of your classmates are performing, show them respect and give them your full attention. This will help with your acting skills and is good for the class as a whole.
- Never criticize or even suggest an improvement to another actor. Outside of devising and Post-Modern praxis, this is not done in professional theatre. There are several reasons for this: the last thing your fellow actor needs is to feel as if s/he is being judged by you—you need to feel comfortable and free with the other actors—not worries you will be criticized. Also, giving a note or suggestion to another actor may be counterproductive to what the director is trying to achieve. If you’ve said something, and the director says the opposite, the actor will still be thinking subconsciously about what you said. Often directors give notes at certain times for specific reasons (holding off on some notes, till others are fully incorporated.) If you give a note to another actor, even if it’s something the director was going to eventually say, you are compromising the artistic process and ultimately the success of the show. This is one of the few virtually universal rules of professional theatre.
- In An Actor Prepares and Building a Character, Stanislavski discusses faith a great deal.
Faith is important to acting. Have faith in yourself, the teacher (or director), your class (or cast) and the text and you will always succeed. The most difficult battles in history were won or lost through faith…

The Beautiful Paradox of Theatre which makes it The Most Useful Life Skill

(Theatre Skills = Life Skills)

Theatre is a paradox. Actors rehearse, but they need to act is if they are experiencing something for the first time. Actors care about the audience liking the show—but when they are onstage, they have to not care and just go for it.

In Theatre and life and this class:

- Be honest, yet be civilized and polite. (Theatre is a Social Art Form, communication is crucial—but communicating with respect and professionalism is equally crucial.)
- Play creatively and have fun with the exercises, yet follow instructions precisely.
- Be proactive and try and solve problems imaginatively, but please ask questions!
- If you don't understand a different viewpoint or idea, try and find a similarity in your own life. (Understanding other perspectives is vital for theatre—and life.)
- Always adapt! Adapt to each new circumstance, exercise, goal, requirement or group of people, and you will become flexible and invincible! (Many of the exercises we perform will be familiar—but slightly different. This is normal. Each school, teacher, class, generation adapts or changes exercises. Judith Malina’s version of Sound and Movement is different than Chaikin’s which is different than the “body ho-ha” form I’ve seen in Hawaii… Great actors follow the direction of each director and adapt to the circumstances of the show.)
- Cover! In theatre, “covering” means “covering up a mistake.” The audience won’t know you made a mistake, unless you let them know you did. Pretend to be confident—no matter what we’re doing, and you eventually will feel confident for real!
- Since most great acting involves performing with confident commitment, part of the practice and skill building for acting involves performing each exercise—no matter how silly—with confident commitment. Even if you do not completely understand the exercise, part of the practice for acting is trying the exercise anyway!
- If you play sports, you focus on the ball. The exact same thing is true of acting: acting is ‘doing’: taking action. So, if you focus on what you’re doing and the game we’re playing, then this will help you achieve concentration and commitment onstage (possibly the most crucial aspect of acting!)
- Performance is biological, physical. Like a marathon runner who runs every day, actors are athletes of the heart. If you practice your hardest every class, you will get better. (Just like the marathon runner who practices: even if she doesn’t finish the race with her best time, because she has worked so hard, she cannot run badly—she will run a good time. If you practice, your body will not let you perform badly—it becomes ingrained. “As ye rehearse, so shall ye perform.”)
- The only difference between people who are good at what they do, and people who aren’t, is the people who are good at what they do keep getting better and keep improving. There’s always more to learn—keep learning and never feel bad about not knowing something. A mistake is an opportunity to learn! You’re here in college to make wonderful mistakes and learn from them.
and improve continuously. (The philosopher Socrates was considered the wisest man in Athens because he was the only man who admitted he knew nothing!)

FINAL CAVEAT EMPTOR:
If at any time during the semester you have any questions, criticisms or suggestions, it is your responsibility to inform the instructor so that your suggestion can be evaluated and acted upon. I am here to help, so let me know if there is a problem in-class that is affecting your ability to work. Also, in life, those of us who show up and express ourselves often find the world is fairly easy to shape to our will, and our destinies are ours to command.

Helpful Resources:

I encourage you to ask me questions about the class and to ask for clarification at any time. Please ask for help even though you are not sure you need it.

One of the best resources on campus is the TRiO Student Support Services (SSS) office, which provides tutoring and a range of other opportunities to eligible students. The contact number for TRiO SSS is 235-7487.

The Writing Center, located in the WCC Library and Learning Commons, provides in-person consultations during school hours and email feedback as needed. Contact writing center staff by email at wccwrite@hawaii.edu. The center’s current hours are posted at http://www.wcc.hawaii.edu/Writing/

Texting and communication:

Communicating with students is my top priority. To that end, please text if you need to reach me urgently. Texting is the best way to reach me and my preferred method of communication. If you text me, it will take me up to two hours to respond—usually, though, I can respond instantly. Emails and calls are great too! However, due to working non-stop on theatre 7 days a week, emails and calls can take up to 36 hours for a response. If you do email, please try and use your school account!

Please check your hawaii.edu account on a regular basis. I will send email announcements to that account only. Instructions on forwarding your hawaii.edu account are here: http://windward.hawaii.edu/technology/Forwarding_UH_GMail.pdf.

Please write grammatically correct emails, using complete words and full sentences (no shorthand, such as “where r u now”). Start with a greeting (Aloha Bob, Dear Mr. Smith, or Hi Lance), and end with a signature (Thank you, Sincerely, or just your name). Get in the habit of writing professionally. This will benefit you greatly in life.

DISABILITIES ACCOMMODATIONS

There is a strange pecking order among actors. Theatre actors look down on film actors, who look down on TV actors. Thank God for reality shows, or we wouldn’t have anybody to look down on. -- George Clooney

When an actor comes to me and wants to discuss his character, I say, 'It's in the script.' If he says, 'But what's my motivation?,' I say, 'Your salary.' -- Alfred Hitchcock

Actors are agents of change. A film, a piece of theater, a piece of music, or a book can make a difference. It can change the world. -- Alan Rickman

For every successful actor or actress, there are countless numbers who don't make it. The name of the game is rejection. You go to an audition and you're told you're too tall or you're too Irish or your nose is not quite right. You're rejected for your education, you're rejected for this or that and it's really tough.
- Liam Neeson

Being a good actor is about changing who you are. -- Will Smith

It's mainly about working hard and proving to people you're serious about it, and stretching yourself and learning. The mistake a lot of actors make, particularly young ones, is allowing themselves to feel that they're the finished articles, the bee's knees, and it's not true. -- Daniel Radcliffe
