WINDWARD COMMUNITY COLLEGE MISSION STATEMENT

Windward Community College offers innovative programs in the arts and sciences and opportunities to gain knowledge and understanding of Hawai‘i and its unique heritage. With a special commitment to support the access and educational needs of Native Hawaiians, we provide the Ko‘olau region of O‘ahu and beyond with liberal arts, career and lifelong learning in a supportive and challenging environment — inspiring students to excellence.

CATALOG DESCRIPTION

The first mahi‘ai course in a series of four in Hawaiian cultivation practices. Covers the history, lore, and geographically specific methods of mahi‘ai. Emphasis on the cultivation of kalo and related staple foods. Recommended preparation - HWST 107

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

As a result of taking this course, students can expect to attain the following outcomes:

- Know the historical and Hawaiian cultural significance of kalo
- Understand different Hawaiian farming techniques and ideologies
- Identify the parts of the kalo and kalo varieties
- Develop a general understanding of Hawaiian diet and nutrition as it relates to kalo

COURSE TASKS

Attendance, Class Participation, and Lawena: Students are expected to come to class with a positive attitude, prepared and ready to learn. Full participation points will be given to students that are attentive, engaged, and contributing to class/group discussions. Lawena is your behavior in class. If you are disruptive or disrespectful to your Kumu or peers, it will result in points loss for that day.

Ha‘awina: Over the course of this semester, you will be required to finish various readings, worksheets, reflection papers, and Kilo journal entries. All work must be turned in using complete sentences with correct grammar and formatting. Points will be deducted if work is illegible or done sloppily, as both handwritten and typed work will be accepted. Students are required to create a Kilo entry in their journal for each day that class is held (Tuesday and Thursday). Please designate a journal/notebook for this class only. Journals will be turned in at mid (October 13) and end (December 15) of semester. If you miss class, it is your responsibility to coordinate with the Kumu any make-up work. Late work is accepted, but a 5% grade deduction will be added to your final score for each day that has passed, including weekends.

Quisa and Hō'ike: Two quisa and two hō'ike will be non-cumulative and the format is to be determined. If a conflict does arise, then you should contact Kumu La'akea as soon as possible. An make-up exam may be scheduled for emergencies only and must be discussed with Kumu La'akea at least two weeks prior.

Final Paper and Ha'i'ōlelo: Students will choose a topic relating to this course and will need to write a 3-page research paper to be turned in at the end of the semester. Students will also have to give a five-minute presentation to explain their findings using whatever format they select (tri-fold poster, video, powerpoint presentation, art, food, etc.). As part of this grade, a final paper outline, first draft, and peer review will need to be turned in. Details of expectations as well as a grading rubric will be given in-class.

Warning: Be very careful of plagiarism. I will be evaluating all writing assignments very carefully. If you are caught plagiarizing in any way, please refer to the Academic Dishonesty section below. In order to avoid running into this potential problem please do your own work and if you have difficulty writing please see Kumu La'akea.

LEARNING RESOURCES

All reading material will be provided via Laulima

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Smart phones, laptop computers, and any other electronic equipment: Use of these devices during class time (especially texting and responding to social media postings!!) are disruptions and inconsiderate to the Kumu and your peers. If you are caught using any devices, you will lose one point toward your final average. Every ensuing occurrence thereafter will result in a double penalty [e.g., 2nd time: 2 points off final average; 3rd time: 4 points off final average, etc. (after 3 times, you will have a total of 7 points deducted from your final average!!)]. Accordingly, it is probably in your best interest to shut off these devices before the lecture starts.

Academic dishonesty: Note that the University of Hawai'i regards acts of academic dishonesty (e.g., plagiarism, cheating on examinations, obtaining unfair advantage, and falsification of records and official documents) as serious offenses against the values of intellectual honesty. The university is committed to enforcing the Policy on Academic Integrity and will pursue cases of academic dishonesty according to the University of Hawai'i's Code of Conduct (please see www.hawaii.edu/student/conduct). In the case of this particular class, if you are caught cheating in any way you will receive an F for the course and reported.

DISABILITIES ACCOMMODATIONS

If you have a physical, sensory, health, cognitive, or mental health disability that could limit your ability to fully participate in this class, you are encouraged to contact the Accessibility Counselor to discuss reasonable accommodations that will help you succeed in this class.
