Windward Community College offers innovative programs in the arts and sciences and opportunities to gain knowledge and understanding of Hawaiʻi and its unique heritage. With a special commitment to support the access and educational needs of Native Hawaiians, we provide the Koʻolau region of Oʻahu and beyond with liberal arts, career and lifelong learning in a supportive and challenging environment — inspiring students to excellence.

ʻĀina

Windward Community College is located in the ahupuaʻa of Kāneʻohe and Heʻeʻia in the moku of Koʻolaupoko on the island of Oʻahu. Both ahupuaʻa are directly connected to the moʻo ʻōlelo of Pāpa and Wākea, who are seen as the ancestors of the Hawaiian nation. The campus sits beneath the puʻu of Keahiakahoe, which is also connected to many moʻo ʻōlelo of this ʻāina. Because wind names and rain names are associated with specific ʻāina, the rain name of Kāneʻohe is known as the ʻĀpuakea and the rain name of Heʻeʻia is the Ulumano.

Online courses at Windward Community College follow the college's RSI Definition for ensuring quality instruction. You can expect me to communicate with you frequently (and in a timely fashion) about our coursework in the following ways during our class:

- Announcements: After the papers have been submitted, I will offer a summary and a sociological perspective of the particular topic. Please check Lamaku and your email for announcements.

    - Drafts: Please submit drafts at least 4 days before the due date, and send me an email to let me know you'd like feedback.

All course activity due dates are listed in Lamakū on the Calendar. Please check your UH email often and set your Lamakū Notifications (both email and D2L Brightspace Pulse App) to receive course notices, such as grading updates, announcements, and activity reminders. I will keep our Lamakū course Grades as current as possible.

Participation Verification

Campuses are required by federal regulations to verify the participation of students in their classes. In accordance with Executive Policy 7.209, all students in the University of Hawai'i system are required to establish "participation" to ensure that they are not dropped from their class(es). Effective Fall 2021, students who fail to participate by the late registration period for a class will be administratively dropped from that class. Students may also be dropped from dependent prerequisite and/or corequisite classes if both courses do not establish participation.

Course Information

Catalog Description

SOC 251 is the study of human relationships within courtship, marriage, and the family as influenced by culture and society. It is designed to challenge students to re-examine assumptions regarding behavior, decisions, choices, and motivations in interpersonal relationships. The course places particular emphasis on diverse family forms, and the changing nature of how we define family (WCC: DS, WI)

Writing Intensive (WI)

Writing Intensive (WI) Courses are part of a University of Hawai'i system wide movement to incorporate more writing in courses from all disciplines. A WI course is a discipline-specific course in which writing plays a major integrated role. Students in course sections designated as a "WI" (preceding the course title in the Schedule of Classes) learn to understand course content through writing and to write in ways appropriate to that discipline.
Passing English 100 with a "C" or better is a prerequisite before students take the two required WI courses for the Associate in Arts degree. Students transferring to some bachelor's degree campuses in the UH system may bring two or three WI courses with them to count for the bachelor's degree.

The hallmarks of a writing intensive course are:

1. The class uses writing to promote the learning of course materials.
2. The class provides interaction between the instructor and students while students do assigned writing. At least one student-teacher conference on a writing assignment is required in writing intensive courses.
3. Written assignments contribute significantly to each student's course grade.
4. The class requires students to do a substantial amount of writing—a minimum of 4,000 words, or about 16 pages.
5. To allow for meaningful professor-student interaction on each student's writing, the class is restricted to 20 students.

The course has been designed to allow students to find meaning in what they write, which makes learning more fun. Enjoy!

Student Learning Outcomes

Students can expect to attain the following outcomes as a result of taking this course:

1. Identify, describe, and analyze major trends in the family from a sociological perspective.
2. Describe and analyze the connections between individual family experiences and larger social institutions.
3. Analyze contemporary social and political issues and describe how those issues affect the family.

Instructions and Grading Criteria

- The Discussions instructions and Course Calendar include all instructions, word-count requirements, grading rubrics, and five discussion topics.
- Discussions are formal written assignments. Drafts may be submitted for feedback (see the Course Calendar for deadlines).
- Each discussion is based on assigned readings and films. Complete all assigned materials before writing.
- Effort matters: Thoughtful, well-written posts earn higher scores. Brief or vague submissions earn fewer points.

Writing and Replies

Original Posts

- Plan and organize your ideas before writing.
- Reference specific details from the assigned readings and films.
- Example posts showing how to cite and connect to the readings are available in the course site.

Replies to Peers

- Engage meaningfully by expanding on ideas, asking thoughtful questions, or offering additional insight.
- Make connections to the assigned readings and films.
- Avoid simply praising another post—let the instructor do that!
- A model of a strong reply is available on the Discussion page.

Submission Guidelines

- Discussions are graded after replies are submitted for each topic. See the Course Calendar for deadlines (do not rely on the Gradebook).
- Early submissions (4+ days before deadline) may receive feedback—email the instructor to request review.
- Verify that your post appears on the Discussion page. Emailed submissions are not accepted.

Grading and Policies

- Each discussion = 200 points (+100 for the post + 100 for the reply).
- There are 5 discussions total (1000 points possible).
- Late work: 50% deduction per late item (-50 points for a late post and -50 points for a late reply). No exceptions.
- Posts or replies edited after the due date are also considered late.
- Extra Credit: 10 points each for the Introduction and Final Goodbye posts.
- Check the Gradebook after each discussion for feedback to improve future work.

Let's Discuss!

Discussions are your chance to explore sociology, share insight, and learn from each other. Posting on time keeps the conversation lively and meaningful—so stay on schedule and join in!

Academic Integrity

Work submitted by a student must be the student's own work. The work of others should be explicitly marked, such as through the use of quotes or summarizing with reference to the original author.

In this class, students who commit academic dishonesty, cheating, or plagiarism will have the following consequence(s):

- Students will receive a failing grade for plagiarized assignments.
- All cases of academic dishonesty are referred to the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs.

Windward CC Student Conduct Information

UH System Student Conduct Policy EO 7.208

The assignments in this class are designed to focus on your unique perspective and critical thinking, not on finding a "right" or "wrong" answer. Each discussion paper asks what YOU think and requires you to support your response with evidence from the assigned readings and films.

While AI tools may seem tempting to use, they are not suited for these assignments. Here's why:

1. Authenticity: The assignments are about your thoughts and experiences, which AI cannot provide.
2. Accuracy: In past instances where students used AI, the information generated was often incorrect, with claims that were unrelated to the assigned materials. Even when AI tools referenced the readings, the information was fabricated.
3. Engagement: Papers written by AI often lack personal insight, assuming there is a "correct" answer and leaving out the human connection that makes sociology so meaningful.

The most rewarding part of these assignments is exploring ideas that matter to you and discovering how sociology helps us see our lives in new and fascinating ways. That's the purpose of these papers—to give you the opportunity to reflect on your experiences through the lens of sociology.

Take this chance to engage with the material in your own voice. The process is not just about earning points but about finding joy in the exploration and learning. Let your work reflect your individuality—something no AI tool can replicate!
